

Development of Teams

Clarify situations. Locate sites. Get to the point quickly.

The work seldom takes place without the others.

When it comes to making knowledge and resources value-addingly usable, clarifying structures or conflicts and organizing changes of management, team development is the key to success.

Typical areas of operation are groups and teams in the line organization, project teams, virtual teams and management teams.

Made-to-measure support: the team development can be mobilely linked to your meetings, for example during a strategy meeting. The work with teams refers to your work contents and can be carried out globally.

We work with your topics and our methods. To encourage communication, cooperation and trust but also process-orientated thinking and problem solving strategies, we design experience-orientated indoor and outdoor learning scenarios. Brief reflection methods secure the acquired results.

The goal: to develop an efficient and motivated team.

We can do this for you:

- closed team and department meetings, strategy meetings
- interface workshops with other departments
- feedback between (new/established) manager or project leader and his team
- kickoff- and review meetings for project leaders and their teams
